Communication

I have built up my communication skills due to projects and my CCA so I can confidently say that I am quite decent at communication. I can articulate my thoughts and ideas clearly using appropriate language, tone and non-verbal cues which makes me a good presenter.

Active listening is something I do as well. I avoid interrupting and allow others to express their opinions and pay attention to what they are saying without judgement.

Leadership

As part of NCC during secondary school I picked up good leadership qualities from the experience and seniors there.

I am very adaptable so if needed I can adjust to new circumstances and environments to get the objective complete.

I can make timely and informed decisions even in challenging situations by weighing in pros/cons and input from the team and take responsibility for the decision.
